

Week 3 – TD

As announced last week, the goal is to have a functioning app by the end of the week.

For this, we need to finish coding a working version of every key graphical component and interface. We also need to put together all that has been done so far, create interfaces between components and clean the code.

We all still have tasks in the GitHub project, we need to finish them by Sunday and test the app to be sure that we have something working!

Next week, we will improve the visual appearance of the UI, add functionalities and start to focus on the analysis part.

As always, please send me a recap of what you did today at the end of the TD and feel free to ask your sub-team leader or me any question you could have.

Enjoy!
